

Unitarian Universalist Urban Ministry

Rev. Mary Margaret Earl
Executive Director and Senior Minister

Founded in 1826, the UU Urban Ministry is one of the oldest social justice organizations in the country. Our mission is to unite communities and transform individuals through education, service, and advocacy. Located in the Roxbury neighborhood of Boston on the campus of the historic First Church in Roxbury meetinghouse, we offer programming focused on education and enrichment, domestic violence shelter and services, and we provide community engagement opportunities that bring people together across the divides of race, class and faith for music, learning and action for justice.

Message from the Chair

Fellow Delegates and Friends of the UU Urban Ministry,
Last year I started my Annual letter with “Another special year for the Urban Ministry!” Little did I know that a year later I’d be writing from my home in the eighth week of the COVID-19-inspired Massachusetts “stay at home” mandate! On behalf of the Board, our first concern is for your safety and well-being – and that of all the families touched by the Urban Ministry’s work.

Over the past months our world has been deeply shaken by the pandemic in so many ways. Few are being spared its painful consequences: uncertainty and isolation, loss of jobs and livelihoods, sickness and death of loved ones. And few places are being harder hit than our Roxbury neighborhood. COVID-19 has, once again, laid bare the long-standing injustice and racial and economic inequity that divide and damage us all. The Urban Ministry is needed now more than ever.

And thank goodness we have the staff and supporters we do! Their strong and sensitive response has been chronicled regularly by our Executive Director in her email messages to us all. We can all be so proud of their resourcefulness and compassion!

Before COVID-19 turned our worlds upside down, we were making steady progress on several important fronts:

- Finishing touches were put on the design of our Healing Garden and fundraising began.
- Believe in Success developed new ways to connect with graduates to support them on their journeys of personal growth, healing and economic self-sufficiency.
- RYP intensified its focus on its tour guide program.

Our community outreach efforts deepened partnerships with Roxbury-based neighbors and organizations, moving the Urban Ministry closer to our vision of relationships built as partnerships to dismantle racism. Your Board has continued its visioning and strategic planning work. We look forward to engaging congregations – in-person and virtually, as permitted – to explore together ways to deepen congregations’ connections to the Urban Ministry’s mission. To support that aspiration, we are expanding our Board to 16 members with two of the three new members coming from member congregations located further from Roxbury: Duxbury and Medfield.

We know that progress will continue – even as we all discover new ways to do our work together – like our first-ever virtual Annual Meeting! Welcome to our experiment! And thank you for believing in the Urban Ministry’s work.

I wrote last year, "Crossing boundaries of race, class and faith has never been more important than it is now." True then. And even more true today as we see poor people of color bearing more and more of the consequences of the pandemic and how it's being handled.

Thank you for all you are doing to stand up for justice – now more than ever!

the time of COVID-19

Report of the Executive Director and Senior Minister

Like the rest of the world, UUUM experienced a Great Interruption this springtime.

As the Boston Public Schools closed, we transitioned our afterschool and workforce programming to remote educational, emotional and material support.

As we learned more about this pandemic, we moved families in our shelter to separate, offsite quarters.

And as we began cancelling events in our historic Meetinghouse, we began imagining how we still could highlight the richness of the Roxbury artists in this neighborhood.

As we prepare to gather for an unconventional Annual Meeting – the first since I arrived that we have not hugged and sung and broken bread together on our campus – we travel through an historic moment.

We witness the health and wealth disparities in communities of color – this health crisis underscoring racism’s ongoing legacy.

We worry over survivors of domestic violence whose lives now have become even harder.

We ache for hemmed-in young people who do not know what summer will bring.

And we see that we are called to keep doing this work no matter the challenges – that we are called to be creative and persistent, and move forward. The gift in serving an 190-year-old organization is that adaptability dwells in its DNA. As we move through today’s challenges, we seek to continue building on the work of the past year:

- We continued building our youth-led tour guide program, offering tours of John Eliot Square, our own campus, and of Nubian Square. In the past year, we dug more deeply into the overall structure of our afterschool programming, with an eye to refining our focus on history, and seeing how our Seeing Me in the World anti-racism program for UU youth can be incorporated into it.
- Our Believe in Success job-readiness program, now in its third year, began strengthening our alumni program and ensuring we stay connected to graduates as they move toward financial independence.

- We began planning for a renovation of our longstanding Renewal House shelter, thanks to a generous grant from the Franklin Square House Foundation.
- We hired a Social Justice Fellow for the Arts and Humanities, thanks to a grant from the Polly Thayer Starr Charitable Trust. The Fellow's goals are curating and shepherding events in our Meetinghouse and campus, especially highlighting the artistry of Roxbury and serving our neighbors through the arts.
- We continued transforming our campus into a welcoming hub for the community we serve. The past year we worked through the permitting processes needed for exterior grounds work that will recreate the historic, circular drive in front of the Meetinghouse. We also worked with gardeners and neighbors on the design of a healing garden space serving survivors and our neighbors, and began fundraising for its installation.

In the year ahead, we will press forward with these projects – knowing that our work will look different. And while the work will, no doubt, be harder to accomplish, we also know that in hardship is opportunity for innovation and growth.

Thank you for the ways you've journeyed with UUUM this past year. And no matter what's ahead, I look forward to walking forward with you.

Onward,

*Rev. Mary Margaret Earl
Executive Director and Senior Minister*

Minutes of the Annual Meeting of the Benevolent Fraternity of Unitarian Churches d/b/a The Unitarian Universalist Urban Ministry May 16, 2019

The meeting was preceded by music from Paul Mardy of the New England Conservatory on classical saxophone and Anna Zimmerman, a neighbor of the UUUM, on violin.

The 184th meeting of the corporation was called to order at 7:35 p.m. by Karla Baehr as Chair of the Board of Directors. She thanked the board, staff, and all in attendance for their dedication to the UUUM before introducing Rev. Mary Margaret Earl, Executive Director and Senior Minister, for the invocation.

Rev. Mary Margaret Earl opened the meeting with a prayer.

Rev. Earl transitioned into the report of the Executive Director, and reflected on the past year and about our progress – as a country and society – since the year of the UU Urban Ministry’s first annual meeting, in 1835. She thanked the delegates gathered for being conduits to their congregations, thanked donors for investing financially in the UUUM’s work, the volunteers who move the organization forward through their acts of commitment and kindness, and the staff for its dedication. Rev. Earl spoke of highlights from the past year, including the growth of the Roxbury Youth Programs’ tour guide program, work to engage the Roxbury neighborhood in defining the UUUM’s community engagement programming strategy, and the continued importance of the UUUM’s domestic violence resources.

Rev. Earl introduced Nicole Castillo, the UUUM’s Director of Programs. Ms. Castillo thanked the program staff of the UUUM for bringing their hearts, brains, and humor to their work every day. Ms. Castillo introduced staff and participant speakers for each program. Franceska Jean-Pierre, Director of Youth Programs, introduced five Roxbury Youth Programs participants (Kimberly, India, Tracy, Jennifer, and Abbigail), who shared their experiences in RYP with a focus on the impact mentorship, tutoring, the staff, college preparation activities, and the tour guide program have had on their time here. Anna Borroz, Assistant Manager of Renewal House, spoke of the UUUM’s commitment to supporting survivors who otherwise face great barriers to accessing services, and current shelter resident Folake spoke of her own experience in shelter and as a participant in Believe in Success, the UUUM’s job-readiness training program. Hannah Stohler, Director of Believe in Success, introduced Mary, a recent graduate, who spoke of the program’s influence on her confidence as she embarks on her journey to re-enter the field of nursing. Ms. Stohler also thanked the 65 volunteers who dedicated time to Believe in Success over the last year, and introduced new staff.

Ms. Baehr invited Carol Lohe to present the report of the nominating committee. Ms. Lohe read the proposed slate for Delegates at Large, then for the Board of Directors (including the biographies of the two incoming board members, Brian Keith and Doug Poutasse), and finally for the Nominating Committee. All were accepted by unanimous vote and appear in the Appendix.

The Minutes of the May 2018 Annual Meeting were moved, seconded, and unanimously accepted.

Alan Cody gave the Treasurer's Report, thanking Finance Director Rachel Shapiro and Rev. Earl for their leadership. He spoke of the UUUM's diversified revenue streams as an asset and remarked that increasing corporate sponsorships, especially for the Believe in Success program, were a goal for the new year. Mr. Cody thanked the board for being invested in the financial management of the organization and shared his confidence in the UUUM's investment strategy.

Ms. Baehr thanked Mr. Cody for his expertise as Treasurer.

Ms. Baehr presented the report on behalf of the board, saying the UUUM was blessed by its leadership in Rev. Earl and in its work as developed by the staff at large. She spoke about the efforts over the last year to focus on building the UUUM's authentic partnerships with our community and the board's role in this.

Ms. Baehr and Rev. Earl recognized long-time board member Mr. Peter Coccoluto who is stepping off the board after nearly 50 years of service to the UUUM. Mr. Coccoluto was presented with a candle as a token of the UUUM's appreciation for his service as a beacon of light, especially in the darkness. Mr. Coccoluto shared a few words of appreciation for his time serving the UUUM, as well as the UUUM's good work, strong leadership, wide volunteer support, and its partnership with the Roxbury community.

Ms. Baehr invited a motion to approve the budget for fiscal year 2020, which was made, seconded, and unanimously approved.

A motion to adjourn was made, seconded, and unanimously passed. Ms. Baehr did so at 8:45 pm, and turned the microphone over to Rev. Earl.

Before offering the final benediction, Rev. Earl shared appreciation to Karen Erikson and the Winchester congregation for dinner, as well as to members from First Parish in Lexington for dessert and help with the meeting.

The meeting concluded with a benediction by Rev. Earl.

Respectfully submitted,
Greta Hagen, on behalf of Karla Baehr and Derek Lumpkins

Board Candidate Biographies

The following are being nominated as candidates for election:

Rev. Dr. Catherine Cullen

Rev. Dr. Cullen is currently completing her 16th year as parish minister at First Parish Church Duxbury. Catherine came to ministry after nearly twenty years as a trial attorney in Boston, where she sat on several boards and was active in local, state and national politics. A former member of the UUA Board of Trustees, Catherine is currently the president of the BCD-UUMA Chapter and a Good Officer in her district. She is active in her community, currently serving as the president of the Duxbury Interfaith Council and a member of the King Caesar Council, a local board which offers subsidies for medical expenses of citizens in need. Catherine and her late husband David raised a blended family of six. Their family now includes eleven grandchildren, ages four months to fifteen years old. Her avocations include travel and sailboat racing.

Lisa Snellings

Lisa Snellings is a life-long Unitarian Universalist. She has served in legal and program management roles in the non-profit and public sectors, working to expand access to quality, affordable healthcare and housing. Most recently, Lisa has worked as an attorney with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Health Policy Commission and Department of Public Health. She began her legal career as a civil legal aid attorney in Northern California, representing low-income clients and social service providers in housing, land use, civil rights and public benefits cases. She received her B.A. from Stanford University and her J.D. from Georgetown Law Center. Lisa and her husband Hill live in Somerville, and are members of Follen Church in Lexington. They and their daughters Quincy and Frances have been beneficiaries and supporters of the social justice work of the UU Urban Ministry for many years.

Rev. Dave Egan

Rev. Dave Egan is currently serving as the minister of First Parish Unitarian Universalist, in Medfield, Massachusetts. During his career, he has worked as a professional stage actor, a drama teacher, and an art teacher in New Haven, Quincy, and Roxbury. He is a graduate of Andover Newton Theological School (ANTS) with a Masters of Divinity degree. During his time at ANTS he also served as a chaplain at Beverly Hospital and at the Grace Center, a homeless day shelter in Gloucester. He did ministerial internships at First Parish UU in Canton, and at First Parish UU Hingham Old Ship Church. Before being called to First Parish in Medfield, Dave served as the Director of Family Ministry at the Arlington Street Church in Boston, and the Program Director for the Friday Night Supper Program, providing a weekly 3-course meal and clothing to Boston's underserved community. He has been involved over the years at the U.U. Urban Ministry both as a co-leader of the Seeing Me in the World Program, and as a regular volunteer for Fair Foods. He lives in Quincy with his wife, Karina, and two daughters, Maya and Lyla.

Renewal House

In the last year, three of our residents moved to new apartments: one in Boston and two in other cities in Massachusetts. We have three new families in the shelter. We assisted a family of five to relocate to a location that was a better fit for their family size. We served a total of 15 individuals, including 6 women, 1 man, and 8 children.

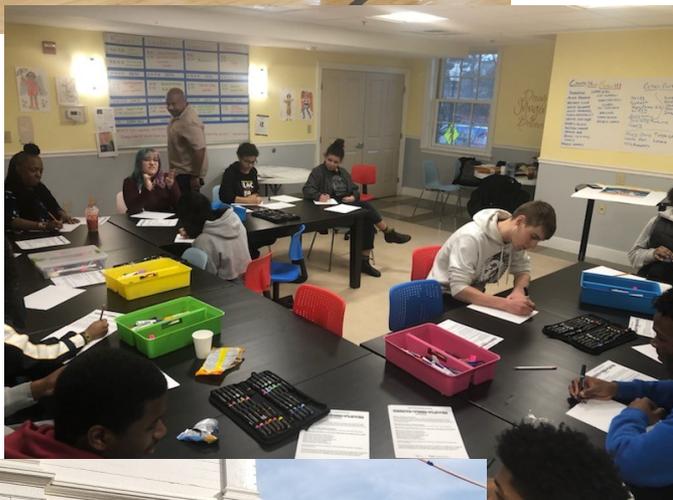

Three members of our staff, including our Director of Programs, departed for new journeys. In October, we promoted Cinthia Arias – a former relief staff member – to Training Advocate Specialist, and she is also doing case management in Believe in Success. She is currently in Believe in Success 3 days and Renewal House 2 days. We hired Marie Padilla in a new role as Housing Advocate. We are continuing to receive support from our volunteers Marsha Knight and Juanita Sims. We brought on board our intern from Simmons University, Sara Almeida. We have made small upgrades to Renewal House. In the spring, we painted the shelter. In the winter, we upgraded our window blinds. We hired maintenance personnel to assist in deep cleaning the shelter once a week and also to assist with minor repairs. We are excited to have received a generous grant from the Franklin Square House Foundation to do more significant repairs to our common spaces, including a kitchen renovation.

This year, the COVID-19 pandemic was the most challenging thing we have experienced. We moved residents from the shelter for their own safety as well as for the safety of staff. We felt this was the best decision to have the lowest risk to exposure from the coronavirus. We first moved the residents to a hotel with kitchenettes where they spent about 3 weeks. We then secured a more affordable rental lease until the end June of 2019. We are providing emotional support daily, as well as essential support via gift cards for the needs of residents along with MBTA passes. Every week, we are providing case management for the residents via Renewal House staff working remotely. We are also providing support for our former guests. Other staff are covering the hotline so we can continue providing services to the survivor population in our community. This situation has been challenging for staff and residents. By networking with other agencies, we have been able to overcome challenges and barriers. We hope this epidemic will be over soon so that we can commence to a life as normal.

Roxbury Youth Programs

This school year has been one of growth, development and resiliency for students and staff. We were able to build partnerships with Madison Park High School, Timilty Middle School and the John D. O'Bryant. These partnerships have given us the opportunity to provide academic and social emotional support for approximately 25 students from various neighborhoods in Boston. We continued to provide a safe and nurturing space for students to come to and build near-peer relationships with our Boston College volunteers.

In addition to connecting our seniors to Funderburg Scholars for assistance in navigating the college process, we were also able to continue to invite local organizations and people to engage with the students. For example, the Massachusetts Black Lawyers Association returned to lead a conversation on the incarceration rates of people of color. The Boston Public Health Commission's Violence Intervention and Prevention initiative came and facilitated a workshop where the students had the opportunity to reflect on how violence affects their community. The Boch Center Teen Council conducted an interactive workshop on the impact of racism on teens. Mass College of Art facilitated creative workshops including visual art, music and spoken word. Students were able to hear words of wisdom from several neighborhood residents who spoke about their experiences as judges, community advocates, historians and artists, including retired judge Geraldine Hines, former State Representative Byron Rushing, Horace Grant, and Leonard Lee.

Our Roxbury Youth Historian Tour Guide program is continuing to develop. During the academic year, 12 of our students were hired to become tour guides and led a tour that focused on the historical significance of Nubian Square, John Eliot Square and First Church Roxbury.

Unfortunately, on March 16 we temporarily closed the doors to RYP, due to the COVID-19 pandemic. We have remained connected to our students via text, email and video chat. It is important that we let students know we are here for them and their families during this very challenging time. We have distributed masks, gift cards and groceries to families to assist with the loss of income and we will continue support them with available resources. Staff continues to plan for the summer employment program and the upcoming school year while exploring various platforms for virtual employment and engagement. We look forward to another year of student-centered support, meaningful engagement and community building.

Interim Youth Program Director for 2019-2020 school year

Believe in Success

At the start of the 2019-2020 fiscal year, BIS had completed four cohorts since launching in the fall of 2017. With four different data sets, the staff's main goal for the year included evaluating the program, restructuring the upcoming fall and spring semesters, and strengthening our alumni engagement.

Mid-summer we revised our staffing after three BIS staff transitioned from the agency. Former Career Specialist and Lead Teacher, Jaquelina Dabo, was promoted to Director of BIS, and Christine Dickerson, former Volunteer Coordinator, was promoted to Program Coordinator. To fill the other gaps in coverage, BIS welcomed Renewal House's Training and Outreach Specialist, Cinthia Arias, who provides case management and co-facilitates lessons three days a week. Additionally, the transition would not have been possible without our second year MSW interns, our incredible UUUM volunteers, and numerous community organizations that serve as speakers for our career panels and provide our participants with next-step opportunities.

Over the summer, we also tackled our goal of evaluating the program by forming the BIS Evaluation Committee, consisting of professionals with an understanding of trauma-informed care, domestic violence services, workforce development trends, and data evaluation experience. In order to assess our program's impact, the committee members focused specifically on our curriculum content, our case management approach, equity principles, and overall program outcomes.

Based on these recommendations, we incorporated our mindfulness techniques into all classes, not just one class a week, so that participants can better apply and master the techniques before they graduate from the program. The Evaluation Committee also suggested doing in-person check-out interviews at the end of every cohort to better gather information on the student's experience. Alumni should then be invited to participate in planning alumni events that are scheduled for the year. This process was scheduled to be implemented for the first time this spring semester. However, due to COVID-19, we will apply this new approach once we resume in-person programming.

We continued to strengthen our alumni involvement in the program by hosting our first alumni career panel, which was held in the fall. This past year alone, alumni have obtained employment in the healthcare and human service fields, others enrolled in higher education, and several moved into their own apartments. These are stories that alumni are able to share with their peers who are enrolled in the program and wondering what post-graduation entails. Participants voiced how inspiring it was to hear from alumni as they prepared to graduate the program last fall. We look forward to hosting this panel every semester.

Lastly, by the end of this fiscal year we would have graduated our 6th cohort, with an alumni base of 57 graduates. Due to COVID-19 impacting our program by week 6, we are now creating remote learning opportunities for our students, and establishing safe ways to return to our classroom space. With a new Director of Programs, Peter Tam, the BIS team is looking forward to tackling new goals for 2020-2021, including streamlining how we track alumni success metrics, creating a more robust alumni summer program, and engaging new collaborators, especially new referring partners for the program. We are grateful for your continued support and look forward to evolving this upcoming year.

Arts and Humanities at the First Church in Roxbury Meetinghouse

I came on board in a new role with the Community Engagement team in November of 2019: Social Justice Fellow for the Arts and Humanities. Based on the findings of the Community Engagement Task Force report of 2019, events with a focus on social justice through the arts were created.

Dinners at the Meetinghouse were held monthly, featuring local artists, generally having 15-22 attendees, with the most recent one in March showing an increase in attendance and engagement – a sign that the hope of UUUM to foster community and connection is being realized.

The 2019 holiday season featured the following events:

- John Muratore: Noël holiday concert
- An outing to Black Market to support local artists
- December Dinner at the Meetinghouse featuring local author Valerie Foxx

The first quarter of 2020 featured these events:

- Opera unMet: The Ties That Bind concert
- January Dinner at the Meetinghouse featuring the UUUM Healing Garden plans presented by board member Jean Krasnow
- February Dinner at the Meetinghouse featuring a tour of the Dillaway-Thomas House led by General Manager/Curator Leonard Lee
- Free Community Chamber Concert by Boston Symphony Orchestra's Brass Quintet
- March Dinner at the Meetinghouse featuring local artist Gloretta Baynes

In addition to these concerts, 16 live events were planned for the remainder of 2020, with four additional outings to focus on local institutions.

With the cancellation of live events due to the viral pandemic, UUUM Arts and Humanities pivoted to continue to deliver on our mission to support and celebrate local artists through a virtual gallery series through videos. Artists were appreciative of UUUM's commitment to continue highlighting their work, even without the possibility of a live event this spring.

Internal collaborations between the Arts and Humanities department and Believe in Success and Roxbury Youth Programs have developed.

For Believe in Success, job descriptions were created to provide professional opportunities for graduates whose career focus aligned with our event needs, such as photography and event planning.

For Roxbury Youth Programs, collaborative planning around youth-led tours and the local outings has begun in anticipation of the continuation of the touring season.

Meetings were held with other institutions in the expectation of having dynamic speaking series to address the social justice topics highlighted in the Community Engagement Task Force report and to foster continued connection with our neighbors in John Eliot Square.

With our virtual methods taking shape, there are exciting possibilities which we will continue to develop to fulfill our mission to support economic justice and racial equality in meaningful and impactful ways as we hope for the safe reopening of live events.

Gifts to the UU Urban Ministry

The Unitarian Universalist Urban Ministry is a 501(c)3 nonprofit that unites communities and transforms individuals through education, service, and advocacy. We engage communities and congregations in social action and change, with programs that empower youth and adults to realize their full potential.

Your financial support makes so much possible!
Please consider the UUUM in your giving.

Contributions

Your gift may be mailed to:

UU Urban Ministry
10 Putnam Street
John Eliot Square
Roxbury, MA 02119

Or visit www.uuum.org/donate to make your gift online.

Bequests

Please consider including the UU Urban Ministry in your estate plan. We would be pleased to talk with you regarding the tax advantages of making a charitable bequest to the UU Urban Ministry. For more information, please contact Greta Hagen at 617-318-6010 x204 or development@uum.org.
